Greetings!

Welcome to the Spring 2011 Newsletter. This is a very exciting time for PWI! This June we celebrated the graduation of MAPW cohort 1 and MACF cohort 3.

Congratulations to all of you!

In the same month, we welcomed our third cohort of the MAPW program to their first residency. In July, the PWI building remodel started and when finished, will add a new library classroom as well as a new administrative office. We are excited to be updating our facility and look forward to welcoming the community into the new space this fall.

Contribute to the InProcess Newsletter

The InProcess Newsletter is published three times a year: Fall, Winter, and Spring. If you have news from your neck of the woods and want to share it, or know someone who's doing something interesting with Process Work, let us know. Spring Submission deadline is August 31st, 2011.

Please send your submissions, photos, etc, to Jim Stillwell at pwi@processwork.org.

The Mediator as Moderator--- for World's Diversity!

Deep Democracy Facilitator Training with Amy and Arny Mindell
September 8 - 11
Yachats, OR

We learned from Worldwork this year. We knew that worldwide, everyone suffers from unresolved international GROUP, ORGANIZATIONAL and CITY TENSIONS. Diversity issues such as social rank and power, teamwork, gender, religion, race, color, sexual orientation, physical challenges and/or many other themes are painful, but with a special feeling, or 2nd Training, conflict work can be easier.

In this present seminar, we use newest forms of spacetime dreaming- meditation to "sit in the fire", to facilitate group communication for greater understanding and more community. We support new kinds of leaders to create sustainable relationships between parties, regardless of the issues.

Application deadline extended for the next Master's of Arts program in Conflict Facilitation and Organizational Change \(MACF\) starting February 28th, 2012

*New application deadline is January 2012.

**International students who require a student visa, please apply at least 6 weeks prior to application deadline.*

Staff Changes

After 4+ years of dedicated service, support and technological guidance, Kerry Goldstein has moved onto another path. While we will miss Kerry's expertise and good humor, we wish him the very best on his new path.

Katje Wagner has had a double role at PWI for many years. She led the recruitment effort as admissions counselor while balancing a busy schedule as a junior faculty member. In June, Katje transitioned out of this role. We are grateful for Katje's pioneering efforts as admissions counselor.

Introducing

Myriam Rahman as the new admissions counselor. Myriam is a recent diplomate and we welcome her into the role of admissions counselor. We are thrilled that Myriam has accepted this position and look forward to working with her in this capacity.

Filling the role of technological advancement and support, Jeremiah Bullock was hired in July as the manager of finance and technology. Jeremiah has a great deal of systems knowledge and we are excited to have his guidance as we expand and improve our database and website.

A letter from the PWI President: Stephen Schuitevoerder

Dear Folks,

I hope you are doing well!! Most years during the summer at PWI in Portland we have a quieter time, allowing us to catch up on some tasks and even take a vacation. But not this year; summer looks to being busy! There is currently lots of hammering and noise going on, as we are in the midst of our renovations. By the end of August we hope to have an extra multi- function room which will serve as a second classroom, library and student room. We also will have a changed office space and a more welcoming entrance to the building. When you visit after August we hope you enjoy the changes. Thanks so much to the renovation team of Jan, Sonja and Jim for all of your very dedicated work. With Kerry leaving we also have a new office administrator in Jeremiah, who has strong technology skills, and we are very hopeful that our technology and distance learning capacity will advance very shortly. I am very grateful for the dedication of Jim and Annie in our office and all the work they have done and continue to do. Thank you!

Further we have just heard back from DETC, the distance accreditation group we are applying to join to be accredited nationally as an educational Institution. They have requested further information and some adjustments which we are optimistic we are able to provide, and we plan to present our final application in the fall, with the hope that we will be nationally accredited as an Institution by mid-2012! Again, thank you to so many folks for your inspiring work in this direction. Thanks to all the faculty who have worked really hard in adjusting curriculum and refining programs and especially Julie, Lisa, Katje, Jan, Dawn who have held us with such dedication in this work. We are deeply indebted to you all for your remarkable and ongoing work in moving us closer to this goal and vision. The Intensive this year was a wonderful success and Ingrid as our Dean of Public Programs has done so much work in forwarding the Intensive and our public programs.. thanks so much, Ingrid!

As many of you know, I have felt this is a good time to phase out as CEO. It has been an incredible privilege to serve as the CEO these last 5 years. The school is in a very different place; it has renovated larger building, a fantastic cohort system, a stronger administration, is in a financially stable and sound place; and is in the process of applying for accreditation, opening to a future professionalization of our programs. I have noticed recently my passion and nature is drawing me towards new opportunities and directions. I also feel it is an ideal time for PWI to transition to a new CEO who can hold the reigns for PWI taking the next step in its development, be physically present, support the office, faculty and students and devote all his/her energies to the development of the school. We have started a search for a new full time CEO and look forward to finding a remarkable new CEO who can continue the progress of the school and community. I will initially stay on the board to guide the transition process and continue in my role as a faculty member.

I feel honored to have served you all in the CEO role these last many years and look forward to witnessing the ongoing progress of our community and school over the next many years to come.

My love to all
Stephen Schuitevoerder
President and CEO

Transforming Church Conflict: A Guide for Pastors and Leaders

MACF graduate (2010) Rick Jaech

I am happy to announce that my MACF Final Project has now been published as a book entitled, Transforming Church Conflict: A Guide for Pastors and Leaders. In this book I provide the overarching framework and practical skills that church leaders can use to productively facilitate conflicts within their church communities. This book applies the principles and techniques of Process Work specifically to a Protestant church context. However, the skills it provides will be helpful within any group setting. If you would like to buy this book, please contact me at rickjaech@live.com. The book retails for $15.00, but members of the Process Work community can purchase it at a 20% discount for $12.00.
